Police Force Is Far Too Small to Terrify the Thieves.

LONG LIST OF ROBBERIES

Talks With Liberal Congressmen Who Have the Interests of Washingto at Heart-They Are Willing to Vote for an Increused Number of Patrolmen if Commissioners Ask for It.

In these days of bustle and preparation for holiday times the crook loses no opportunity to demonstrate to the public the fact that Washington's police force is inadequate to alford it proper protection. The daily list of robberies is already beginning to swell, and it bits fair by the time the holding rush really begins to double its present size.

It seems to me that if the conditions exist, as set forth by you, the police force is much too small. Every city of any size should be given ample police protection. If 150 men have to cover sevenay three squaremiles of territory, it does not seem to me that they could not appear to the second the properly."

Representative Little, Arkanssas: "If a demand is made for an increased number of patrolinen, and it can be shown that they are actually needed to properly protect the lives and properly of citizens, then the demand should be granted by alimeans. If It can be clearly occonstrated that an increase is absolutely necessary, then I shall favor the measure and give it my support."

MR. WALKER'S HOPE.

Hon. J. H. Walker, Missaachusetts:
"In such a matter as this I would be guided by the District committee, and I hope the committee will give Washington her dues. You know by my past speeches what I think should be done for the District. I think should be done for the District by the Fifty-third Congress too infamous to mention. They cut off $4,000,000 from the appropriation bill that they should not have done. The people of the District pay half their assessment, and I believe that Congress should stand her half of every cent the Washingtonians see fit to tax themselves. I am an advocate of high taxes of both of individuals and corporations. If Washington wants a large, police force and needs it, I would be the last to stand in the way of her having it."

Hoff, S. A. Northway, Ohio; "I am not conversant with the needs of the city's police force. If there is an insufficient number of policemen to properly patrol the city, I would readily favor means to increase the force."

Hon. L. W. Royse, Indiana: "I would be willing to vote for an appropriation to increase the force if it really needs an increase. As to that I am uninformed, and, of course, would not pledge myself until I saw the report of the District committee on the matter."

Hon. Thomas Settle, North Carolina: "I, of course, want to see Washington have a police force as large in propertion to its size as that of any other city. If I were convinced that more men are actually needed I would favor an increase in the force."

Hon. O. W. Underwood, Alabama: "I am unfamiliar with the size of the police force in this city. If it is not large enough to be efficient I would vote to increase it."

Will Not Insist Upon Having a Second Guardship.

Berlin, Dec. 3.—The Frankfort Zeitung publishes a Constantinople dispatch, saving that the czar, in reply to a personal appeal from the sultan, consented to waive the Russian request for a second guardship in the Bosphorus.

London, Dec. 3.—The Times Berlin correspondent telegraphs that although no official confirmation can be had of the report that Russia will not insist upon having a second guardship at Constantinople, the statement that the czar has waived his demand is not likely to cause surprise.

waived his demand is not likely to cause surprise.

Vienna. Dec. 3.—The Politische Correspondenz has hitherto not printed any report of the outrages in Armenia. It now publishes a dispatch from Constantinople, bearing date of November 27, which says that the situation in Trebizond and throughout Anatolia is desperate. The official reports ascribing all the outbreaks to the Armenians are, the dispatch says, altogether unfounded.

The prisons in Trebizond are still filled with Armenians. The Mohammedans are well armed and still threaten the Armenians. The attitude of the governor, Kedri Bey, has made the former doings there possible.

William Martin. United States engineer at the dam, fired eleven charges of dynamite of one hundred pounds each, and succeeded in removing one barge and a portion of another. He was unable to work freely, as writs of abandonment had only been secured from three firms.
